The Etheric Human

Die Aufgabe des ätherischen Menschen im 21. Jahrhundert

7 lectures with Dr. Ben-Aharon, Director of the Global School of Spiritual Science (Global School), Israel.
In English with consecutive German translation.

The etheric human is the human being who becomes conscious of the life-forming forces that sustain incarnation, shape biography, enable community, awaken moral responsibility, restore health, inspire art, and now increasingly stand behind technology itself. The etheric body has always been the bearer of life, but today humanity is compelled to assume conscious responsibility for the etheric sphere. Life forces are no longer only inwardly formative; they are being externalized through technology and artificial environments.

At the physiological-etheric center of this transformation stands the etherization of the blood, from which moral intuition, the capacity for responsibility, relationship to life, and inner freedom arise. Where it is not consciously met, etheric forces are manipulated, depleted, or mechanized.

What it means to become an etheric human, and the critical urgency this holds today, is the subject of these seven lectures.
